Igniting Your Passion

Chapter One

In this chapter you will discover yourself in a new way. This is your opportunity to connect with what is inside of you. Dust off some old dreams and create new ones. What do you want? People often believe that they don't have the power to choose how they want their life to be. Our vision gets narrowed and so small that we are driven by our circumstances instead of what's possible. Whether we realize it or not, every day we are making choices and those choices have become our life. This is your opportunity to be the Explorer, stay curious, be kind, be honest and above all get excited and have some fun.

Balancing

Chapter Two

Balance takes place in the midst of action. Life balance is not the same as equilibrium. It is not about having the same weight on each component of your life. Equal parts of work, fun, family etc. is not the goal. There is a moving balance point with all significant areas of life. It is like standing on one foot, you must constantly move to keep balance. As long as we are alive we will be moving toward or away and either increasing or decreasing energy in the areas of our life.

What's the balance of your life look like?

The Wheel of Life Worksheet

Directions

The eight sections in the Wheel of Life represent different aspects of your life. Seeing the center of the wheel as 0 and the outer edges as 10, rank your level of satisfaction with each life area by drawing a straight or curved line to create a new outer edge then shade it in. The new perimeter represents the wheel of your life. If this were a real wheel, how bumpy would the ride be?

Thriving at a 10

The Plan

Chapter Three

What are you committed to? Just like jumping from tree to tree you must let go of one rope to grab the next one. Over and above that, you must be committed to catching the next one. So as in life you must let go of that which is no longer needed what no longer serves you and commit to what will.

What's your plan?

Creating the Plan

Commitments are ongoing quality of life shifts. Commitments are different from goals. Using the Thriving at 10 as a guide, decide what you are committed to creating in the following areas of your life.

My Commitments are:

Career: _____

Money: _____

Health: _____

Friends & Family: _____

Significant Other: _____

Personal Growth: _____

Fun & Recreation: _____

Physical Environment: _____

Positive Intentional Thoughts

Chapter Four

To think is to Create. Your thoughts set the direction of your life. If you want to change the direction you are headed, you simply need to change your thoughts. Our beliefs, behaviors and habits define us and ultimately create the world we live in.

Change your thoughts, change your beliefs and you will change your life.

The Dream Board

Creating a Dream Board or Vision Board is very similar to writing out your goals in life, except this visual tool invokes more emotion than simply writing out your goals. This difference adds an interesting element that has proved to be powerful for me and many others.

First Step for Creating your Dream Board: Get a large white Poster board (usually under $1.00 at most grocery stores) glue, glue stick or two sided tape and scissors.

Second Step for Creating your Dream Board: You will need pictures that either show how you want to feel, where you want to go, want you want to have etc. You can get these from magazines or photos you already have. If you are unable to locate the pictures you are looking for you can do an image search and find the pictures on line then print them out.

Dream big here, really go out on a limb. If you want to live on the ocean in a beautiful house, find a picture of that house on the ocean. Look for pictures that really light you up inside when you look at them. If you want to lose weight find a picture of the physique you want to have. If you want to travel cut out pictures of the places you want to go. Find pictures of someone doing the things you want to, sailing or skiing, climbing a mountain or hiking. You can cut out words or sentences as well. Anything you cut out is great as long as it inspires and motivates you.

Third Step for Creating your Dream Board: Get a picture of yourself that you really like, one where you are happy and feel good then paste it in the middle of the board.

Fourth Step for Creating your Dream Board: Before you begin pasting your pictures and words, lay it out the way it feels really good for you. You might want to write on the bottom of the board something like... This or something better now manifests for me in divine and appropriate timing.

Requirements: Have fun!!! This is really important. You are now taking an important step towards seeing and feeling the life you want. Really go for it here... this is your chance get your dreams in front of you and have it all!!!

Action Steps: Put you Dream board somewhere you will see it every day. Spend at least five minutes every morning and five minutes every night before bed looking at your dream board. Really see the emotions in the pictures and words you have chosen. Look at the colors and look at the different places or events. Feel the feelings as if it is already so.

What's Your Next Chapter?

As life evolves and changes, because it always does... you will attain your goals and dreams that you have created and will be ready to go after new ones. This little 30 minute tune-up can be used over and over again as a compass to guide you towards your next steps. Please feel free to email me with any questions, ah ha's or insights. I would love to hear from you.

May your journey be filled with many blessings,
Toni
